

Warwick Translates Summer School 2019

WARWICK

SCHOOL OF MODERN
LANGUAGES AND CULTURES

Warwick Translates Summer School offers the opportunity to translate texts across the literary genres into English, working with leading professional translators. Groups will be limited to a maximum of 20 students to allow for individual attention. Places will be allocated on a 'first-come-first-served' basis.

The course will be taught in an all-day workshop environment using a variety of texts including non-fiction (essays, journalism, academic) and fiction (poetry, fantasy, children's literature, crime writing). Lunch time events will include discussion panels with publishers and editors. Evening events will include a Translation Slam, a keynote Lecture by Preti Taneja: 'Translating Shakespeare in conflict and post-conflict zones: the challenge to "universal" human rights', a conference dinner, an excursion to the RSC, Stratford, and a talk 'Translating from Page to Stage'.

More information and registration

warwick.ac.uk/wtss

Get in touch

Please email Summer School co-ordinator Holly Langstaff with any questions:

SMLC.Summer.School@warwick.ac.uk

Directors

Amanda.Hopkinson@warwick.ac.uk

Ros.Schwartz@warwick.ac.uk

Tutors:

Arabic – Ruth Ahmedzai Kemp

Catalan – Peter Bush

Chinese – Nicky Harman

French – Ros Schwartz

German – Katy Derbyshire

Italian – Howard Curtis

Russian – Robert Chandler

Spanish – Rosalind Harvey

Theatre (non-language-specific) –

Paul Russell-Garrett

When: 6–10 July 2019

Where: University of Warwick

Cost: £495

Eligibility: The only requirement is that applicants are English mother-tongue level.

